Masonic author

Arthur Edward Waite, P.M., P.Z.
(1857-1942)
Royal Arch Mason

A New Encyclopaedia of Freemasonry (two volumes)
New York: Weathervane Books, MCMLXX

Reared a Catholic, but later left the Church
Waite's Masonic credentials:

Initiated 9/19/1901; Raised 2/10/1902; Exalted 5/1/1902. Past Senior Grand Warden of Iowa; Past Provincial Deputy Grand Director of Ceremonies (Bucks.). Past Grand Inner Guard (English Grand Mark) Past Great Captain of the Guards. Past Grand Historiographer, etc. etc.

In A New Encyclopaedia of Freemasonry, Waite best describes from a Masonic point of view the modern rift between Scarlet and the Beast.

A. E.
Waite
(1857-1942)

"Grand Orient — It remains that in 1877 the Grand Orient, without denying God, proclaimed its atheism, which word is negative like the later denomination agnostic. A theist is one who affirms God and an atheist is one who does not so affirm. Now, in England the charge of Freemasonry to every one of its members is: "Fear God and honour the king." But French [Grand Orient] Freemasonry has neither a king to honour nor a God to fear. There is no ground of union between two institutions so diverse as these are, and any proposition for healing the breach between them by a process of restoring communion — presumably without stipulations — is on the face of it foredoomed to failure, while in the heart of it there is sown already the poisonous seed of insincerity." ■

In Scarlet and the Beast, John Daniel gives overwhelming evidence of this war between English and French Freemasonry.
